There is no theme for this event. Just your expression translated into song or poem or a stand-up comedy routine.

The goal for 8MM is not to have a finished product, but to give performers & writers a safe space to try out something new – a stanza and some ideas for what comes next, or a scene from a larger piece, or a melody that still needs words. For visual artists, it could be a half-completed painting, an unglazed piece of pottery or a series of photographs still needing touch-up. All we ask is that the work be original and presented in 8 minutes or less.

Collaborations are encouraged!

We provide an audience that is for you. You provide the work that still needs to play around a bit before it's ready to straighten up and fly right.
